ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA

CAPITAL OVER 350,000 DOLLARS, AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The Charter of this Company offers more favora-ble advantages to the farmer and others, than any chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in-year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand even hundred persons have insured and become embers of the Company, and over seventy thou sand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of feture usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States All differences in settlement of losses, may b determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING.

PARAGUAY MANNERS AND CUSTOMS. From the pen of a traveller who com-municates to the New York Commercial, we extract some very interesting notes on the way they do things in Paraguay.

Nume Table Walters .- "Shortly after my arrival at Ascuncion, I was invited by Senor and fashionable hour of 2 o'clock. Several friends were assembled for the occasion; but at the table I was placed between two of the N EW GOODS. We have just received a large supply of GOODS adapted to the season, and females of Ascuncion are very fair,) and, Misses J., young, blooming, (for most of the without doubt, very pretty women. Guess, then, my confusion, to find that we were waited on at the dinner table by a half a dozen boys and girls, little slaves, all perfectly nude. Their liveries had cost nething, their shoes and stockings had cost nothing, not one of them had dressed for dinner; they were one and all in statu natura. At first I large stock of Cassimeres; Vestings; Cloths, col'd. fidgeted in my chair, and threw furtive glances around; but seeing every one on either side of me, including my fair companions, as composed as if the most rigid decorum had been studied, I gradually recovered my serenity, and learned thenceforward to know that whatever has become the custom of the country, is never supposed by the people to have anything outre in it. How are we in truth, the creatures of habit! I got so accustomed to these unclothed attendants, during my sojourn in Paraguay and Corientes, that on my return to Buenos Ayres, I thought there was great affectation in dressing out the same class of servants there from top to toe." Conversation .- As the body is left loose and unrestrained by dress in Paraguay, so the conversation of all classes is the most unsophisticated in its construction that can be imagined. There is no circumspection, no subtilty, no mode of speech by which one thing is made to stand for another. At dinner, or any other occasion, right before their daughters, the parents sometimes give dissertations on domestic medicines, &c., which make a stranger's blood run cold, but which they discourse about with all the volubility of clever mothers, in their maturer years, who have raised a large family by dint of their constant application to the system of the doctor, and to which their daughters listen as gravely through the detail as if they were hearing counsels on the improvement of the mind. NIGHT HABITS .- In the principal streets of the city, long and continuous corridors are built, which run along on one side of it. The principal shopkeepers and merchants, who inhabit this part of this town, on very warm nights of summer, convert these corridors into common bed rooms. The portable beds of these citizens are drawn out and ranged along the covered way; and it was curious to see them, as you passed along toward ten o'clock at night, prepaing for bed, and some already enjoying their repose. Some were to be seen sitting on the side of their stretchers, yawning or smoking their cigars; others undressing with the greatest sang froid; here one snoring, there one conversing with his next neighbor-and every one unconscious of the oddity of the scene in the eyes of a stranger. The same custom prevailed more or less through the city, beds and stretchers obstructing the way in every direction. Very little police is exercised in Ascunsion, but such a thing as robbery or theft committed during the night is unheard of, and, in fact, such

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY.

NEW PICTORIAL EDITION.

WE HAVE IN PRESS, to be issued the first of June, a new edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, containing 1500 PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS,

Beautifully executed. 9,000 to 10,000 New Words in the Vocabulary Table of Synonyms, by Prof. GOODRICH, in which more than two thousand words are carefully discriminated, forming a fuller work on En glish Synonyms, of itself, than any other issued beside Crabb, and believed in advance of that,
Table giving Pronunciation of Names of 8000 distinguished persons of Modern Times, Peculiar use of Words and Terms in the Bible,

With other new features, together with all the matter of previous editions, comprised in a volume of 1748 pages.
"An examination of proofs has convinced us that this is by far the most perfect form which any Dictionary has ever assumed. All the inge nuity ever applied to language will not give that idea of a mechanical device which a simple cut will do. It is almost impossible for the most in telligent mind to get a clear idea of a metope, a crochet, a hip or queen post roof, or anything else in architecture, from a definition, while a small engraving brings it up at once. The illustrations of the new edition are copious and truly excellent, in full keeping with the supe riority of a great standard work. Several thou sand new words have also been added to it, so that it is not possible to imagine a more perfect work of the kind. For reference in schools, and for the young it is possessed of a very peculiar value.

Daily Evening Bulletin. Specimen pages will be furnished without charge on application to the publishers. Will be sold by all Booksellers. ZO""GET THE BEST." GET WEBSTER G. & C. MERRIAM.
